Ordway Grove and the Pines

Not Everyone Burns Gasoline—Grove Often Frequented—No New Developments

The writer takes exception to one statement in last week's Advertiser regarding Ordway's Grove, when it said "No one goes there any more." There are many people who do go there, for not every one burns gasoline, or owns a car, and not everyone goes to the pavilion dances all over the country. But there are those who love to go into the grove—the quiet peace, the majesty of those virgin pines, the sunlight filtering through the trees, and the birds and squirrels that seem to know they are protected (or should be) from molestation, there.

A father and his three young sons have been taking a walk in the Grove every Sunday afternoon, because it appeals to them: a nurse in town, when she has her time away from her patient, loves to go

There is another matter that should be brought to the attention of Norway residents, and that is the dumping of tin cans and other rubbish into the stream near the bridge on Bridge Street. After this place has been beautified by the building of the fine dam, for the purpose of keeping it sanitary and slightly, at a big expense by a public spirited citizen, for anyone to use it for a dumping place for refuse. The town maintains a public dump, at quite an expense every year and trucks are hauling to this dump every day, and will carry off any and all refuse if they are so notified.

There is much indignation over this situation. —A Citizen Who Loves Her Town.

ORDWAY PINES

Wonderful woods of spruce pine, and silver snow and gold sunshine. I love you, too, when night winds wail and the stars are shining. When snowy drifts lay all around and the birds are singing. To childhood's eyes you seemed to be each one of you. God's Christmas tree. In winter, summer, spring or fall, unchanged you've stood and I heard you call. And sought your presence with eager feet. Where many a day was made complete. Made complete in a magic way. I've listened and learned all you said would say. Never yet have you failed to give. Since now, sweet lesson how to live. Girlhood years have swiftly flown. While nearer to Heaven you've grown and grown. Friends are many who really care. Let us be striving your path to spare. O. Pines, you're very dear to me. And my heart cries out to you. I pray that you'll never be lost. Norway, Me., Nov. 20, 1930.

Wanted Money for the Wayside Army

A stocky built, reasonably well dressed man recently came to our office. In his hands was a tambourine and a roll of bills. He wanted us to give a dollar. He said he was a member of the Wayside Army. He failed to explain to our understanding what the Wayside Army intended, doing with the money. In fact we felt like anything would be done with the money. He said it was the Red Cross neither was it the Salvation Army, but it was the Wayside Army that wanted the money. We didn't invest. He solicited both sides of Main street and we are wondering if he got a permit to do from the Town Fathers. We did not ask him. His visit was on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 15.

To whom was the charity going? We know not. He said the Wayside Army was for the Army of the Unemployed or for the personal benefit of the solicitor.

A soft spot in the road on Pine street opposite the Dunham house is a trap for automobiles. Rain softened a place recently worked over by the road machine. Horse and man power released the victims.

Up With Wilhelmina opened with a handsome exterior setting, a garden in front of a Dutch house, together with a model of a typical windmill of Holland. This scenery, also the costumes of the country, were made by members of the school Dramatic Club under the direction of Mrs. Clara Parnell Cole, the director of the play.

The story was one of two lovers and their trials, because the young girl's father objected to the attentions of the boy. As a matter of fact, the action was worked up in operatic or musical comedy style, mild in tone, but pleasingly effective. Song and dance specialties were interspersed with the dialogue and a number of Dutch lads and lassies appeared frequently in ensemble.

Parts were ably taken by Faye Lord, Elliott Cummings, Charlotte Longley, Arline Corbett, Loren Brett and Sam Faver. In the ensemble were Margaret Anderson, Gwendolyn Bicknell, Alice LaFrance, and the school orchestra under the direction of Miss Eleanor Wood. Harlan Holman gave two clarinet solos and Albert Henley gave one number and responded to encore.

Grange Hall was packed to the vestibule during this performance with the chance for the S. B. O. sign. Dancing was enjoyed after the show.

Winners of the several contests were as follows: the scarf, donated by Z. L. Morrell, went to Miss Evelyn Selchow. N. H. W. 831 pillow to Miss Dorothy N. Hunt. A wrist watch, donated by B. L. Hutchins, went to Doris Butler. A live turkey to Mrs. Robert Schenk. A live rooster to Mrs. Frank E. Decoster.

Christmas Checks

Next Week $29,000 Will Be Released in Norway

In order to aid Christmas buying, and also to aid employment by immediate donors, the increase of community purchasing power the two banks in Norway have decided to mail their Christmas Savings Club checks earlier than usual this year.

The checks will be mailed the morning of November 28th, and the aggregate amount of the payments will be approximately $29,000, which will be used for Christmas buying and to pay taxes, fuel, bills and for many other purposes.

A THIEF IN THE NIGHT

December 5th has been set as the date of the comedy drama, which will be given by the Norway's best known and cleverest amateur artists in a comedy, sparkling with clever, humorous lines and situations, bristling with new tricks and attractive, clever, interesting, interpreted by such able performers as Clara Parnell Cole, Eleanor Wood, Eva Briss, Norman Greenleaf, Glenn McIntire, Dan Partridge, John Flynn and Harold Anderson. That array of talent alone would be sufficient to warrant standing room only, but you haven't heard all of it yet.

At 8 o'clock a newly organized instrumental trio of exceptional ability will give a concert of pleasing numbers under the direction of our own Elizabeth Klein, who has been a member of the orchestra for many years.

Another favorite has been added to the list of entertainers, none other than our old friend, "Jake Anderson." You who have seen him, look no longer with pleasure to seeing him again and you who have not seen him, ask your friends and let them tell you how many laughs he can produce in his inimitable mannerisms of jokes and songs.

LOCATED IN MANCHESTER, N. H.

ALLAGASH STAG SUPPER

Hunting Party Enjoy Venison

Six hunters of a group in a recent trip to the Allagash, celebrated their victory Monday night at the home of Arthur "Mickey" Welch, by the late.

A game supper was prepared and served by Miss Lou Tefft, with all the appointments and fixings, which make a bunch of hungry hunters satisfied and contented with life. The evening was spent in the game brought home from the trip.

A smoker followed the banquet, with plenty of music and unbelievable hunting stories, and the evening was a most successful one. The hunters were all present, and the evening was a most successful one.

The hearing was Monday forenoon following an accident in Bryant Pond village, Friday afternoon about 5 o'clock, when the respondent's car was alleged to have struck Henry Estes aged 70. Mr. Estes was knocked down and rendered unconscious, also received cuts, bruises and an injury to his leg.

State Highway Officer Eugene Stevens was complainant and testified the accident occurred on the highway leading to South Paris and in the built up section. That the Essex sedan driven by the respondent traveled 114 feet with brakes set after striking Mr. Estes. Officer Stevens and other witnesses expressed the opinion the car was driven at speed beyond the legal limit.

The respondent placed on the stand by his attorney, Harry M. Shaw, testified he didn't see the victim who attempted to cross the street, until within ten feet of him. The brakes were applied promptly, but the rear mud guard struck the man. The car was traveling between twenty-five or thirty miles an hour he testified. Dr. Willard was hastily summoned by the respondent and among the first to reach the scene.

Donald Everett of Norway, on Monday pleaded guilty to carrying a loaded rifle in an automobile and paid a fine of $10.00 and court costs. Robert B. Dow was his attorney. Game Warden James Walker was the complainant.

BOY SCOUTS

Things were started off with a short oral drill and afterwards tests were passed. We wish to get all new recruits possible all up to our troops. We took in three, Tuesday night. As the new year will soon be here, we would like to have a full troop.

There were more tests passed Tuesday night than ever before and we are pleased to have the boys take hold so well.

We are all thankful for the way our new master is making it interesting and we are planning to go on a hike in a week or two.

The Past Grands' Association of Mt. Hope Rebekah Lodge entertained the Past Grands' Association of Mt. Pleasant Lodge of South Paris, Wednesday evening. At 7 o'clock supper was served and a social evening followed.

The Barlowe Revere Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Maude Decoster. The roll call was answered by Thanksgiving quotations. The second paper on Latin America was read by Mrs. Helen Decker.

The selectmen of Norway have placed a notice in this issue of the Advertiser, forbidding dumping rubbish of any kind in the stream below the saw mill or on the bridge on Bridge street under penalty of prosecution.

Rev. G. Rheiner went to Melrose, Thursday night, to visit Mrs. Rheiner at the Melrose hospital. She is making an excellent recovery from an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Rheiner returned home Saturday night.

Norway Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., held regular meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, with a large attendance. Visitors were present from several lodges, and the initiatory degree was worked on a large class of candidates. After the regular meeting, Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, there will be a rehearsal for the first degree and a full attendance is desired.

Jurors Discharged Monday

Superior Court Still in Session—Variety of Cases Disposed of—Sentences Imposed

Settlement was made out of court, Thursday, during the afternoon recess of the accident damage cases of Fernando St. Pierre of Rumford vs. Rumford Oil Co., and of Alphonse St. Pierre vs. the same. The case was opened in the morning and the whole case of the plaintiff stated and five witnesses for the plaintiff interrogated before the recess. It is understood that $1700 or over was the settlement in this case, which was concerned with the severe injury of the five year old plaintiff, Fernando, who was struck by a truck belonging to the defendant company in April, 1930. The plaintiff sued for $5000 damages.

Albert Bellevue of Rumford was attorney for the plaintiffs and George H. Hutchins of Rumford and B. L. Berman of Lewiston for the defendant corporation.

This was the last civil case to be heard by the jury, and they were excused finally Monday noon.

A civil action too late for the traverse jurors was heard by Justice Arthur Chapman, who reserved his decision. This was the case of Fred Penley of West Paris vs. Roland G. Robbins of Hope. Penley seeks to recover damages resulting from an auto accident on the South Paris West Paris road.

Charles Briggs, 15, and Stanley Andrews, 17, both of West Paris, testified as to speed, and position of cars before and after the impact. Testimony revealed that they were both riding on the front seat with the driver, Mr. Lehto, a witness to the accident, testified through an interpreter, that the Robbins car was traveling at about 15 miles an hour, and that the Penley car was going much faster, probably 30 or 35 miles an hour.

Roland G. Robbins and Miss Yvonne Valley of Paris Hill, occupants of the Robbins car, also testified as to speed and position of cars. Walter Gray of South Paris conducted the case for the plaintiffs and Robert Dow and E. W. Abbott for the defense.

Criminal Matters

William Bryant of Lincoln Plantation, who acts as guide in that section, was freed by the jury on the charge of plugging fishing in Aisneos Lake in the Magalloway region. Game wardens Caldwell and Hart testified that on the morning of Sept. 6, this year, they peered through the bushes on the shore of the lake and saw Bryant fishing from a boat.

The defendant was the only witness in his own behalf, and he made a denial of the charge. He said that he had been fishing with a partner and that he did not have a fishing rod in his hand for the whole day.

Red Cross Roll Call

"Your Dollar This Year Will Save Many a Tear"

An appropriate slogan for this year is "Your dollar this year will save many a tear." The members of Company C, 103rd Infantry are making the "census" this year, for the Red Cross, and every house will receive a call from some member between the 19th and the 26th. Plenty of cards are ready for the biggest drive and the committee is asking that the public save this one dollar until a Red Cross worker calls and enrolls one more new member. Each distributor of cards will have a

Third Economic Conference

Maine's Agriculture Industry and Recreation Stressed

Maine's three big business, Agriculture, Industry and Recreation, were the subject of the Third Annual Economic Conference held in Waterville, Nov. 19. A number of the state's well known figures were present, and the meeting which extended from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., well into the evening, was a most successful one. The conference was held at the Hotel Long, this winter. Mrs. Hazel Foster and Jane, Mrs. George Pearson and Beatrice, Mildred and Rodney, were in Rumford, Saturday afternoon. Cyrus Cole of Auburn was in town, Saturday. Charles Farrar and Miss Elsie Bonney of Sumner were united in marriage, Nov. 14, by Rev. W. M. Leavell. The annual dinner and sale of the Ladies' Sewing Circle was held at Masonic Hall, this week. Bert Hutchinson secured a fine buck, Monday. Earl Bonney has shown marked improvement since being treated at the State Hospital, at Augusta. Miss Beatrice Pearson spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Helen Cushman, West Paris. Cleon and Wilber returned from a hunting trip, Saturday, the 8th, each secured a fine deer. George Hersey, Jr., of St. Albans, Vt., is a guest of his father, George Hersey. Miss Emily Scott submitted to a surgical operation at the C. M. G. Hospital in Lewiston. A birthday surprise party was given Thursday at Mrs. Merton Robinson's, Wednesday evening. Those present for supper were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Thurlow and two children, Priscilla and Clinton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Allie White and son, Lawrence, and Mrs. Ella Thurlow. Later in the evening, neighbors and friends called to extend their greetings. Mr. Thurlow was 87 years old. He received several gold pieces, besides other nice presents.

Stuart, Chief Forester of the United States came from Washington to the gathering on the importance of the gathering to Recreation. Other guests were Perry Williams, Executive Director of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association, who told how the city has benefited its agriculture by means of the tourist traffic and by means of advertising; Andrew L. Felt, Maine State Commissioner of Agriculture; William Quinn, Managing Director of the Kentucky Progress Commission; and Mr. and Mrs. Urran, President of the Ocean Spray Preserving Company, South Hanson, Mass., who introduced his company had used "Maine New England" in selling its product. Among the resolutions presented were: That the conference heartily approves the plan for the establishment of the Eastern Maine State Park on the shore of Lake Umbagog, for intensive musical training for boys and girls of high school age, who have shown special promise in instrumental or vocal study. That the conference heartily commends the work of the Maine Development Commission in educating Maine people in their splendid resources and advantages and advertising these to the world. That while commending past efforts, it should be increasing to the limit should be increased in education of our Maine farmers in quality production from quality soil and the adoption of standard size, weight and style of package, according to grade. That it is the opinion of the Conference that our incoming legislature should consider such legislation as will protect and develop side markets, farmer owned, and offering home grown agricultural products of quality and at reasonable prices. That the opportunity should be provided for maintaining at strategic points within the state during the tourist season exhibits of Maine's agricultural and industrial products. That this Conference recommends to the people of the state an open minded study of the report of the State Governmental Survey. That we should make a place in our public school curriculum for teaching boys and girls the resources, potentialities and opportunities within our state. That a committee composed of representatives of the Hotel Men's Association, the Maine Publicity Bureau, the Sporting Equipment Industries and Transportation Companies should investigate and report on the possibilities of developing winter sports in suitable locations within the state. That further consideration should be given to the project of making the area around and including Mount Katahdin a State Park and that this Conference go on record as encouraging any move in this direction.

ALBANY

Man Drowned in Well—Guests at Donahue's.

Otha Blair of Auburn, who has been employed at A. B. Kimball's, was found drowned in a well near where he was working, Tuesday morning, Nov. 11. He left for work as usual with the other men and about nine o'clock George Brown, who was driving the truck went to the well to get water for the radiator. He spotted the water wasn't as clear as usual, but dipped the can in and struck something. It proved to be a man's foot. He started for the other man to come and they discovered who it was. A doctor and the medical examiner were called. He pronounced it accidental drowning. It was thought he went to the well for a jug of water as the jug was found nearby and was either taken suddenly faint or sick and fell into the well.

Mrs. Herman Cummings spent the day, recently, at Mrs. E. O. Donahue's. Mrs. Iree Bean, who has been working at Lovell, has returned to W. I. Beckler's. 7290 MILES around the Indianapolis track at 55 miles an hour—like racing full-throttle up hill for a whole week.

A whole year's driving in less than a week!

FOR five and a half days and nights, through rain, through blistering heat, three cars—standard 1931 model sedans—racked around and around the torturing Indianapolis Speedway, testing the new Socony Motor Oil.

In less than a week, at close to a mile-a-minute pace, they each covered 7290 miles—a whole year's mileage (AAA averages) . . . the equivalent of driving up hill, throttle wide open, all the way!

The test was made under the strict supervision of the American Automobile Association. The result was even beyond the expectations of the Socony engineers after two and a half years' work!

They already knew it was a great COLD WEATHER OIL. Tested at 6 below zero, in an airplane flying over four and three-quarters miles high, this 100% Paraffine Base, dewaxed oil flowed freely.

But the Indianapolis Test proved something more.

It proved that this new oil does not decompose or break up, no matter how savage the HEAT of an automobile engine.

It proved that this new oil consistently maintains the proper "body" at abnormally high engine temperatures, giving perfect piston seal, maximum power, and minimum fuel and oil consumption; and that the new refining process used in its manufacture reduced to a minimum all harmful elements which cause carbon, gum and sludge.

You, too, will find that the new Socony Motor Oil is noticeably "oilier"—better—in fact, the ideal lubricant for eliminating wear in your motor.

We urge you to try it today. In any season it is even better for your car than Socony "Air-craft."

Socony Winter Gear Oil, the superior lubricant for cold weather, insures proper lubrication and easy gear shifting. Switch to it today. And for a quick starting gasoline try Socony Special plus Ethyl. Remember, too, the importance of lubrication during the winter months. Take no chances. Ask for a Socony Certified Lubrication job—lubrication as it should be done.

BRYANT POND

Dragon-Ring Wedding and Reception—George Notes—Drama to be Given—Wedding Reception—South Paris Entertainment—Bring Back Old Days—Officers to be Installed—Girl Scout Meeting.

Miss Hilda V. Ring of Bryant Pond became the bride, Wednesday, Nov. 12, of Peter P. Dragon, of South Paris. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home here on Nov. 12, in the afternoon, by Rev. E. B. Ring of South Paris. The wedding was played by Mrs. B. C. Ring and the bride party stood beneath a huge arch of evergreen boughs and small white roses and topped by a white wedding veil. The bride wore a white gown with a silk lace mesh veil and carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies and white roses. Her traveling costume was brown. Her mail of honor, Miss Hilda Fuller, of Bryant Pond, wore a yellow silk dress and carried deep pink carnations. The little flower girl, Miss Alice, of Bryant Pond, wore a white dress and carried a small basket of white flowers. The bridesmaid, Miss Benedict Dragon of Peru, wore a white dress and carried a small basket of white flowers. The groom's gift to his bride was a white gold watch and to the best man, a silver belt and buckle set. The bride and groom received a vanity case and a white gold bracelet.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ring of Bryant Pond. She was born in Greenwood and graduated from Woodstock High School, also attended Bates College one year. She had taught in the Woodstock schools and was assistant teacher to the principal at Bryant Pond. She is a member of the Grange and the Sisterhood. The groom is the son of Isadore Dragon of Peru and was born at East Rumford. He attended Canton high school and was a member of the Grange. He is now employed by Rumford Ice Co. Mr. and Mrs. Dragon are on a brief wedding trip and will return to make their home at 100 Elm Avenue, Mexico.

The wedding reception was held at the Grange Hall, Saturday evening, November 14th, with an attendance of 250 or more. There were games, music, china, glassware, agate and other articles. Dances were held and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Doughty, Ellis Davis and Everett Howe furnished music. There were many guests from out of town, including relatives of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Grange held a supper at the Grange Hall, Saturday evening, after which the third and fourth degrees were given. Every officer present. There were many visitors from South Paris and West Paris Granges. Attendance, 118. Games were played after the meeting. The next meeting will be December 1st, after which a program will be given to a social. The roll call will be "What the Grange Has Done for Me."

"The Road Back," a three act drama, will be given at the Grange Hall, Nov. 22, for the benefit of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dudley held their wedding reception at Newry, Friday evening. There was a large attendance and many fine presents were received. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Swan and two children were callers at Bethel, Sunday afternoon, at the home of Leslie Davis. Samuel McAllister is recovering from the effects of a blood transfusion to save the life of Mrs. Cora Bennett.

To the younger generation, it was great fun to sit and watch the South Paris entertainers on Thursday evening as they showed how their great grandfathers dressed and sang. The entertainment was given here in the Grange Hall.

To those who have passed the three score and ten mark, there was both pleasure and reminiscence in watching and listening to the reproduction of the scenes of by-gone days, as they showed them in "The Old Fashioned Singing School."

We recalled the days when we went to singing school, when the young were more closely protected than they are now, and the writer must sit with her chaperone regardless of the fact that she sang solo and the writer sang soprano.

These conditions, it was difficult to follow her part. How well we remember the instructor, a stern, exacting man whom we stood in awe of, most especially when he asked us to give a demonstration of rendering our part alone.

While some things they did in those days seem very silly, were they any more so than bodily exposure, painted lips and tattered gowns of today? We appreciated the wholesome, old time environment which was so characteristic of those days when old and young could join in a pleasant evening.

Just to hear the old song, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," which was so splendidly rendered, was worth the price of our ticket to us. What a striking contrast to such empty songs as "Gimme a Little Kiss" of today. We enjoyed the recital of the boy who always kept a penny in his pocket as our slogan. "Never spend your last penny."

One improvement over the old days is that our hats are less weighty. The old Fodanis brought memories of early days as did the little shawls. All enjoyed the rare voices and were glad to see that the passing years set lightly on our former entertainers. Roy Titus, and we noticed that he is still capable of coming down on the low brass notes. Everything was rendered in a very pleasing manner and we are grateful to South Paris people and extended to them our appreciation and thanks and a cordial invitation to come again.

The Jackson-Silver Post Auxiliary held regular meeting Nov. 14 and some important business was taken care of. On Dec. 12 there will be an all day meeting with business session in the forenoon. After dinner the following officers will be installed for the fiscal year:

OXFORD—FORE STREET

Watsons Moved—Attended Mission Meeting.

These from the lower end of the street who attended the Fore St. Circle, held with Mrs. Hattie Stanton, Thursday afternoon, were Christina, Twitchell and Flora Cummings.

Word from Iva Allen Watson, formerly of this street, tells us of their recent moving to Conway, N. H., where they are pleasantly situated in a home with modern conveniences. They have found work to do and the winter prospects are good.

Mrs. Mildred Twitchell took Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Christina Twitchell, and Flora Cummings, to Harriet Boyd's, Oxford, Friday afternoon, where a mission meeting was held. Four ladies of the village were present and a busy time was held and plans talked over concerning Christmas work.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmore Robinson of Norway were recent visitors at E. E. Twitchell's.

We are having a full quota of tramps calling for food and coffee, even before the kitchen fire has set the pot to boiling. The barking of the dogs disturb some of them to the extent that they make audible threats of shooting them.

At and Oscar Twitchell have been in Welchville the past week, getting up Uncle David Staples' yearly supply of wood. Uncle David is one of the few Civil War veterans left, living alone, happily as a king in his little home there in Welchville, where the few neighbors all take kindly interest in his welfare and comfort.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McKee and son, Raymond, Mrs. Harriett Davis and Alton Ames of South Paris were Sunday evening callers at Flora Cummings'.

E. E. Twitchell was in Portland, Monday, buying fruit for Thanksgiving supply.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stearns were in Mechanic Falls, visiting her aunt, Hattie Tripp. Several days last week, Mrs. Stearns was in Norway, assisting Mr. Stearns at their store there.

Don C. Seitz, 75 Downing Street, Brookline, N. Y., says:

"I have been home from my western trip for a week, but laid up with a little sick spell due to disregarding most of the things I am seemingly all right again, but shall stick close for a few days to gratify the various medicos involved, whose theories, as usual, I have upset. If there is anything more ignorant than the average doctor, I do not know who it can be—unless his patients!"

Sent in: "There is a big hullabaloo over unemployment and the like, due mostly to Hoover's efforts to hold country up by the tail. The real trouble lies in the ability of the huge profits piled up since the war to find paying employment, while the wicked speculation in Wall Street and the Republican prosperity claims are all coming home to roost, with the poorest paying for it like the fools they ever were: Vide your towns—folks pushing their small earnings into the Rockefeller pockets. I note that in Mississippi this year's cotton crop is valued at forty-seven millions of dollars, the year's gasoline bill will be fifty millions! The little western banks continue to bust with thrilling frequency."

Christen Grodzinger, the new pastor of the Methodist Church, made us a pleasant surprise this morning. He is a very pleasant man and we are glad to have him here at the office awaiting us.

Norway Churches

Congregational

Sunday school will meet at 10 a. m. Morning service at 11 o'clock. The pastor will preach to the topic, "The Program of Jesus."

The Young People's Society will meet at 6 p. m. The topic for discussion will be "Why I Am Thankful."

There will be a meeting of the officers of the Y. P. C. E. at the parsonage on Monday, Nov. 24 at 7 p. m.

The Young People's Society of the Congregational Church gave a supper and reception to the new pastor, Rev. Christian Grodzinger and family, in the vestry, Wednesday evening. Supper was served to forty-three at 6:30 o'clock. After supper while the dishes were being washed a social hour was held in the dining room.

At 8 o'clock, three young ladies entertained the pastor and family while the others went to the vestry, where seats were arranged in a circle. Three girls escorted Mr. Grodzinger and family to the vestry, where they found dimly lighted with candles. Upon their arrival, the group sang "Follow the Leader."

Short program was in order. Ernest Moore (Pat) welcomed the pastor and family and introduced the officers of the Y. P. S. A piano solo by Rubina Sharon, an address of welcome by the president, Charlotte Longley; a vocal duet by Evelyn Bicknell and Margaret Anderson; a clarinet solo by Harlan Holman; remarks by Mr. Grodzinger; vocal solo by Bernice Sharon; reading by Charlotte Longley; remarks by Mr. Grodzinger; piano solo, Ada Reed; song by group, "I Would Be True"; reading by Miss Wood; instrumental duet by Junior Conway and Harlan Holman; solo by Jonathan Bartlett; reading by Violet Upton; song by group, "Bless Be the Tie That Binds"; remarks by Catherine Grodzinger. At this time, everyone shook hands with the pastor and family. At 9:30 o'clock the party broke up and everyone reported a very pleasant evening.

The entertainment in connection with the Second Congregational fair and sale will be of interest this year. It is in the nature of a Y. P. C. E. Singing School, with Kenneth Sampson of South Paris as director. The program will consist of solos, duets, quartets, both male and mixed, readings and novelties. The costumes are both charming and ridiculous. This will be held the second night of the fair following supper.

Mrs. William F. Jones opened her home on Pleasant Street, Monday, for a large gathering for the benefit of the tea room for the Congregational Church, which takes place Dec. 3 and 4. Mrs. Clara Luck and Mrs. Ethel Luck, committee for the tea room, sponsored the affair, which was very successful, and twelve tables were held for bridge during the afternoon. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock.

Ladies' Circle Entertained Choir. A very pleasant affair was held recently at the home of Mrs. Blanche Smith, at the home of the Congregational Ladies' Circle, for the choir of the church. A delicious supper was served at 6:30, the place cards being pen and ink sketches of surprised choir girls. These were made by Mrs. Emogene Sampson and were most attractive.

After supper, many games were played with prizes being given to the winners. Prizes were won by Mrs. K. C. Michie in the guessing contest; Miss Ida Gammon in the hat making contest; Miss Marion Welch for cutting out the best animal, and Miss Wood, Miss Leeman and the Misses Rubra and Bernice Sharon for being the winners in their groups in a bean contest.

Readings were given by Miss Eleanor Wood and Mrs. Esther Tower Anderson, songs were sung and the party broke up at a late hour. Twenty-eight were present. The committee in charge were Mrs. John F. Horne and Mrs. Irving Horne, Miss Minnie Williams, from Portland, Miss Bertha Allen from Coaticook, P. Q., Mr. and Mrs. George W. Horne and Mrs. Lottie Daigle Jacques from Lewiston, Mr. Holman and son, of Portland.

There was a great quantity of beautiful flowers. The bearers were Eugene N. Swett, Edward L. Bunnell, Fred E. Smith and Percy H. Nevers, friends in the local church, of which the deceased was a member. Interment was in Norway Pine Grove Cemetery.

CAST FOR UNIVERSALIST DRAMA. On the evening of December 11, the second evening of the Universalist church fair, a group of players, some well known to local audiences and others who are appearing for the first time, will present two contrasting dramas.

"The Game of Chess" by Kenneth Goodman will be presented first. This is a one-act tragedy which never fails to attract attention and to hold it throughout the length of the play. Clayton Church, who will be remembered as Cecil Bernard in "Cappy Ricks," will have the leading characterization, that of a crafty, suave, and cruel ruler of pre-revolutionary Russia. He rules his own life to get another's, simply because life was thinking that he wasn't thinking for himself. Because he had begun to doubt his own life, he had to pit his life against another's in a struggle to the finish where he had no other weapon, no other help than his mind. Fred Paul, a stranger to local audiences, has the role of Boris, Alexis' opponent. This is a strong part and in rehearsals, Sam Favors meeting the requirements. Sam Favors has the part of Constantine. This young actor will be remembered for his splendid portrayal of Alfred Bissell in "Beauty—For Him." Stanley Murch has a bit part and he plays that bit effectively. "Jack Of Hearts" will follow. This is a short three-act uproarious comedy. Cast will be announced next week.

COMES OUT OF MASSACHUSETTS HOSPITAL. E. E. Andrews, 33 Spruce Street, Watertown, Mass., who has been a patient in the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston for several weeks, was able to return to his home last Tuesday.

He writes a characteristic letter in which he says: "He fooled his friends this time." That after a serious surgical operation he had an attack of pneumonia was unconscious ten days; rallied and wanted something to eat and has continued to improve since. He expects to visit his Norway friends sometime in the future.

PYTHIAN SISTERS NOTES. The Pythian Sisters will hold their roll call supper Tuesday evening, Dec. 2. The chairman of the committee are Mrs. Sadie Lapham and Mrs. Etta Lebroke.

Inspection will be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 16. Mrs. Sadie Lapham as District Deputy will have charge of the installation. The Sisters have accepted an invitation of the Knights for a joint installation at some later date. Plans are being made to put on another drama during the coming year.

Paul Kurtz spent several days on a business trip to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Heath entertained the Racket Club, Saturday evening, Dec. 16. Mrs. Sadie Lapham as District Deputy will have charge of the installation. The Sisters have accepted an invitation of the Knights for a joint installation at some later date. Plans are being made to put on another drama during the coming year.

Special meetings are being held this week and next, every night, at 7:30, except Saturday. Sunday nights at 7 p. m. Our brother, Rev. T. P. Fletcher of Duxbury, Mass., expert mustache, as well as a singer and the preacher, and blind withal is leading these services and there is not a dull moment. Come and hear.

Universalist

Morning worship at 10 o'clock. Rev. Conrad B. Rheiner will preach on the subject, "Only One." If you need inspiration, and there are few of us who do not, come to this service and hear this sermon. You will go away uplifted. There will be special music by an augmented choir, with the following selections, "Let Us Give Thanks," Dr. Alfred Beirly; "Prayer of Thanksgiving," Folk song of Netherlands; and a violin solo by Marion Haskell.

The Sunday School will convene at 11:10 a. m. Thanksgiving will be observed in all departments by special exercises. As part of the Thanksgiving services, Sunday, members of the Sunday School are bringing vegetables and canned goods to help give Thanksgiving cheer to others.

The Senior Y. P. C. U. will entertain at Y. P. C. U. a get-together. The supper will precede the devotional meeting and there will also be a business session to reorganize a district association. This church will unite with the other Protestant churches of the community in a special Thanksgiving service on Thursday, November 27, which will be held in the Methodist Church.

The G. R. Club met with Harlow Adkins, Tuesday evening, for a business meeting and social.

A good number from Norway partook of the chicken pie supper at the Grange Hall in West Paris, Wednesday evening, given by the West Paris Universalist Church. The entertainment that followed was presented by the Norway Universalist Church.

The Ladies' Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. George F. Hill, Friday afternoon.

UNION SERVICE. The annual Thanksgiving service, all Protestant churches uniting, and all the ministers taking part, will be held at the Methodist church at 10:00 a. m., Nov. 27. All the church bells will ring at 9:30, 9:55 and 10:00.

Rev. Conrad B. Rheiner, pastor of the Universalist church, will preach on the subject, "The Value of Thanksgiving in Prayer." Rev. W. W. Lyon, pastor of the Methodist church, will conduct the service. Rev. Christian Grodzinger, pastor of the Congregational church, will have the pastoral prayer and benediction. Rev. G. Howard Newland, pastor of the Baptist church, will read the Proclamations and the scriptural lesson.

Calendars will enable those who attend to follow the order of the service. Plan to attend yourself and bring others.

The offering will be presented to the W. C. U. to relieve suffering and want in the community.

Norway Center Congregational Church. Regular service will be held at 2 p. m., Sunday, Nov. 23. The pastor will preach on "An Attitude and a Discovery."

GIFT MONEY—NEW FORD CAR. Theophilus J. Judkins of Rangeley, guide, trapper and hunter, is responsible for the following: "My son, 19, guided a sport last summer on Rangeley waters, who was liberal with presents, tips it is called. The son recently visited friends in South Paris and met the liberal sport who gave him a check for $600.00 and $25.00 in gold."

The boy immediately bought the latest new model Ford and is riding round and showing it to friends.

The sport is represented to be a Portland banker and the writer of local histories at the Norway National Bank.

DIMINUTIVE NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY. Mrs. Emma Swan of Norway presents us with a copy of the "American Newspaper Directory of 1876."

It was issued by Geo. P. Powell & Co., New York. Undoubtedly it should have been Howell, yet it may have been one of George's freak ways of getting his name and business before the advertising world. The size of the directory is 11-4 x 3-4 inches. Pretty small for its newspaper directory of that year as far as it went, 16 pages only. Some curiosity!

We recall seeing it in the office of the Lacombe Democrat of that year. Also the comments made about seeing a collection of solid gold type, once a month for his agency.

This little pamphlet was found in a collection of "rubbish" from the estate of the late Dr. Wm. B. Lapham, who was a newspaper man and the writer of local histories.

SUNDAY DINNER GUESTS. Sunday dinner guests at Ben's Tavern: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Rounds, Portland. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Booth, Portland. Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Nelson, Town. Mr. O. Hines, Portland. Mr. E. G. Hill, Portsmouth, N. H. Miss Mary Anderson, Portsmouth, N. H. Miss E. Williams and Lady, Portland. Louis Greene, Boston, Mass.

MEETING FOR BOYS AND GIRLS. A meeting for boys and girls of high school age and young people. This evening service of "The Fall" 2:30. The dramatic sermon production is drawing considerable interest and the big auditorium is gradually becoming the Sunday night home of the folks who love to hear the Gospel presented in such a new way. It is a great story and holds even the intelligent seeker after truth. Last Sunday evening the young men of the church assisted Rev. Mr. Lyon on the platform.

The 47th annual K. of P. hall is to be held as usual on Thanksgiving eve, which means a lively time for all.

The boys all had a wonderful time at Hanover, although some were very late getting home on account of engine trouble.

The Red team have the work this Thursday evening. Rupert Tracy and his Beal street crowd take on "Sam" Nevers of the Falls in the drum ball game of the season. Each expects to present a strong bunch and Sam thinks by Thursday night will be the best ever got together.

Several brothers have been practicing the strains of sweetly-ringing chimes that are secretly hidden in the shadows of the church. "If you have no church-home, come out Sunday evening," says the Methodist minister. It's a great enthralling narrative.

Nov. 25, Tuesday, is the date set for the coming of the "Mexican Jubilee Troubadours." They were here in the Methodist Church about a month ago and the little Community Hall was crowded to capacity. It was a great again with new instruments and a delightful program.

In the afternoon there is to be a child-act matinee. This is especially arranged for the school children and begins at 4 o'clock. The afternoon show begins at 4 o'clock. It will be a big night and a good time with Chinese fiddles, Japanese banjos and silver bells and lots of other instruments.

The news of "The Methodist Fair and Drama" will be found in these columns of the Advertiser in next week's issue.

Baptist. Special meetings are being held this week and next, every night, at 7:30, except Saturday. Sunday nights at 7 p. m. Our brother, Rev. T. P. Fletcher of Duxbury, Mass., expert mustache, as well as a singer and the preacher, and blind withal is leading these services and there is not a dull moment. Come and hear.

NORWAY GRANGE

The first of the day meetings of Norway Grange was well attended. Miss Elizabeth Holman arranged the program of meeting, which was enjoyed by all. On Nov. 20th the Grange will hold a dance with music by Andrews' orchestra of Waterville. Refreshments will be served and entertainment. The program for the regular meeting Nov. 23, is in charge of Margaret Knightly. Grange opens at 1:30.

Mrs. Blanche Lyon, who has spent the summer and fall in Norway at Mrs. Hattie Smith's, left for her home in East Milton, Mass., Thursday.

The private dancing party, the second for the season, will be held Thursday evening, Nov. 20, at American Legion Hall. True's orchestra furnishes the music.

OXFORD. The Adventist Mission Circle met at the home of Mrs. Hattie Boyd, Friday of last week.

The Methodist Circle met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Jennie Wood. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trebilcock and twins, Margaret and Frederick, visited their daughter, Mrs. Philip Nelson, and baby Margaret Ellen, in Portland, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Trebilcock and family were guests of Mrs. Trebilcock's father, Albert Wilson, in Auburn, Sunday.

Mrs. Lula Martin visited her daughter and family a few days last week. Winifred and Addie Martin were home from Lewiston over the week and Mrs. Alice Nelson and son are visiting with her parents in Sanford.

PRESENTING THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Today the Chevrolet Motor Company presents the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six, a new model of the six-cylinder car which has enjoyed such wide popularity.

In both the chassis and body of this new six-cylinder Chevrolet you will find expressed, as never before, Chevrolet's well-known policy of progress through constant improvement.

For—without departing from the basic features which have won the enthusiastic approval of over 2,000,000 buyers—Chevrolet has produced a six-cylinder car which represents an entirely new standard of quality, value and refinement in the low-price field.

Your first impression of the new Chevrolet will be one of striking fleetness, grace and beauty. The car is longer, lower and modernly smart. The radiator has been deepened and its appearance enhanced by a curving tie-bar and chrome-plated parabolic headlamps. The long hood lines sweep back unbroken to blend gracefully into the new Fisher bodies. And never was Fisher's fine craftsmanship more evident than in the bodies of the new Chevrolet Six!

Not only are the bodies roomier and more comfortable, but as you study them you will discover many gratifying new features and pleasing refinements—many examples of that painstaking attention to detail which is the basis of true quality.

Mechanically, too, the new Chevrolet Six is a better automobile. The wheelbase is longer. The frame is stronger. The steering is easier. The clutch is more durable. There is a smoother, quieter, easier shifting transmission. In fact, wherever finer materials and more advanced design could add to Chevrolet quality or increase Chevrolet's traditional economy of ownership—improvement has been made. See the new Chevrolet Six—and you will agree that here is the Great American Value!

» » AT NEW LOW PRICES « «

Chevrolet has long been one of the lowest priced cars in the world. Yet due to the savings of volume production and increased manufacturing efficiency, the Bigger and Better

Chevrolet is offered at new low prices. Come in today. See and drive the new Chevrolet Six. Learn the new economy of owning a modern, fine quality, six-cylinder automobile.

The Rise of Tom Hadley

By O. F. Whitman
CHAPTER XXIV

Camping Out with Sam

Monday morning saw a party consisting of Tom, Charley, young Whiting and Jim, rolling away in Charley's car towards the lily and wooded country of the north. Victor and Jim were in high spirits in anticipation of adventures in camping out in the woods. Jim was in his prides of Sam, to Victor, and what wonderful things he could do, in shooting bears and wildcats.

After listening to him for a while, Charley said: "You see, Tom, that your lands as a hero with Jim have begun to wither. The man who can slay bears and wildcats has the call now with him."

"That's the way of the world, Charley," replied Tom. "Today the crowd shows itself hoarse over you and tomorrow, for some fancied lapse from grace it is ready to hang you on a limb of the nearest tree and stay in the sun is short at the most."

"I shan't ever go back, Victor, on Tom or Charley, even, but Sam can teach them how to shoot the forest animals and then they will be as mighty as he is," exclaimed Jim.

"They don't care about that kind of glory, I guess, Jim," retorted Victor. "And I don't either. Hunting and fishing is just sport. We are out on this trip for a lark, but we shouldn't want to live in the woods all the time. If we did we would become coarse, uncouth and somewhat savage."

"That's the stuff," said Tom. "A little of hunting and fishing during the year is all that is best for one who expects to accomplish anything worth while." Jim was not so convinced, however, by what had been said that they were right. He had a horror of fierce, wild animals and to slay them without getting injured was, to him, very much more than sport—in fact, a very wonderful accomplishment.

They had now arrived at Sam's place and Jim ran to him, exclaiming: "I'm going to be your boy now, Sam, till we get back."

"All right, kiddo, I'll look out for you," (to Tom and Charley). "Morning young fellows. I've got a truck in here with my horse in it. I'll take you in that car about five miles from here. The trail is narrower and ruffier, but I'll have to leave them cars here."

The car was unloaded and run into Sam's barn. When he noticed the quantity of provisions, he exclaimed: "Gosh boys. Guess we shan't starve at the camp. I'll load down the car with some mighty well, I reckon." They managed, however, to pack them all on to the animal's back, including Sam's supply of fruit, and off they started. Sam with his dog, Bose, and Jim at his heels, took the lead, followed by Charley, Tom and the Whiting boy, with Young at the rear end of the procession, leading the horse by its halter. Their progress was necessarily slow as they carried their firearms, ammunition and blankets and the trail was rough and uneven, and in some places streams ran across it. But there was no occasion for hurrying and after a tramp of some two hours they reached the high ridge on its eastern side, which bordered the lot on which the camp was located. This ridge was so high and steep that the trail over which they traveled and it took about an hour to cross it and reach the camp near a pond.

From Sam it was learned that the tract was owned by the state and was said to contain ten thousand acres, including the slopes of the high hills and the ridges on its eastern and southern sides. Besides the pond near Sam's camp, which covered some twenty-five acres, there was another one about two miles farther north of about half its size. These ponds were connected by a brook. The outlet of the lower body of water was usually a considerable stream at the ridge on the southern side of the lot appeared to be about the same height as that on the eastern side, Tom was anxious to learn how the stream found an outlet. Sam told him that it had a channel under the ridge. The eastern side of the lot was very heavily wooded with great pine trees, but on the western side—as could be seen from the ridge over which they had come—was a large acreage of spruce and cedar, while the hill slopes to the north and west were covered with a growth of hardwood trees of various kinds. A little rivulet ran from a spring a few rods from the camp and emptied into the outlet of the lower pond.

SAM'S CAMP

Sam's buildings consisted of a log camp with an open fireplace and was large enough for half a dozen sleeping bunks. A small outhouse, finished up for cooking, in which there was a wood shed in one end and a place made for a store room where the carcasses of creatures shot and designed for food, and the skins of fur bearing animals could be hung up for preserving or drying. Near the shore of this pond was an improvised boat house made of poles and covered with evergreen boughs, where a flat bottomed boat was kept for fishing. This was full of trout and there were brook trout in its outlet and inlet, but the upper pond Sam had stocked with pickerel and screened its outlet so that these gamy fish shouldn't destroy the speckled beauties in the streams and pond below. In short, the place was an ideal one for a camping out party, which wished to have plenty of fishing and hunting and not be interfered with by interlopers.

The horse being quickly unpacked and the provisions stored, it was tethered to a post under a tree and Sam, leaving Tom and Charley to begin the preparations for dinner by starting the fires in the open fireplace and cook stove, got water from the spring for drinking and the stream for cooking. Then the boys, Victor and Jim, fishing in the pond. He took two poles—one for each one of the boys, intending to row the boat himself and let them catch the fish. He baited the hooks with angleworms, which he had dug that morning and put into a tin box which he carried in his pocket. Jim was favored by being seated in the prow of the boat, while Victor was placed in the stern. Sam noticeably rowed the boat into the shadows made by the branches of the trees on the western side of the pond and charged the boys to keep as quiet as possible. He told them not to jerk too quickly when they felt any bites, but to give the trout time to swallow the bait and when they started to swim away to pull in their lines. Jim, feeling a nibble at his bait, in his excitement, gave such a jerk that he threw the fish—not a very large one—out of the water, off his hook and over the side. "You had, didn't you, didn't you?" said Jim. "The fish had taken your bait, so Sam put another worm on to his hook. In the meantime Victor had got hold of a good sized trout which Sam skillfully got into the boat before it could swim away under a bank on log. Jim's next effort was more successful and he was greatly elated at seeing his prize flop around in the bottom of the boat. After the boys had caught two more, Sam rowed to another place on the pond, where the boys got in their largest catch. They had lost in all half as many as they had secured. Sam said that they had enough for dinner, one apiece—so he rowed to the shore, dressed the trout and putting their entrails in a hollow under the stone for bait for future fishing, returned to the camp, where he found the table set with coffee and potatoes cooked—the bread toasted and the salt pork fried and all was ready for the cooking of the fish. These were treated to moistened Indian meal and put into the spider of hot fat and butter, where they were cooked and nicely browned. The table was soon smoking with the eatables. All appetites were sharpened and full merit was done to the dinner. No meal of victuals was ever relished more than one eaten in the woods after a weary tramp. It is needless to say that nothing was left of the fish when the hungry men had satisfied their appetites, but the bones, and these were eagerly devoured by Sam's dog.

After dinner Sam and Young had to indulge in a smoke, after which the latter put into the spider of hot fat and butter. They heard Bose barking and Sam concluded to take his gun and see what the dog had found. Tom was curious to explore the stream's outlet from the lot and Charley decided to go with him. The boys divided. Jim greatly felt the lure of the barking dog and went with Sam, but young Whiting having determined upon starting out to keep with Tom, followed him and Charley. His was very gratifying to Tom, who had promised to take care of lawyer Whiting's boy and see that no accident befell him. The barking dog would naturally have been a great inducement for Victor to go with Sam and Jim, but however strong his curiosity was, it was not sufficient to induce him to go with them and this so pleased Tom that he determined the youngest should have his full share of the sport.

Sam suggested that the young men take the right of the lot to go off any time and cut down any small trees, which might obstruct their view and Charley went to the woodshed and got it. They took their guns with them and Victor was given the axe to carry. On their way up the stream, Charley inquired: "What have you got up your sleeve, Tom? There must be something besides seeing a hole under a ledge. What is it? You don't expect to know the ledge up do you?"

Tom: "That's just what I'm going to see if such a thing is practicable. Don't you see the possibilities in this lot in case it can be secured and an entrance opened to it? It's a perfect gold mine, if there can be a road made into the lot. These big pines must average something like two thousand feet of lumber or more to a tree. The spruce and hardwood growth will yield immense quantities of wood and timber and if properly managed the new growth would be renewed about as fast as the trees are cut off. The old growth could be cut off and marketed. Here is a fortune old man."

Charley: "Well suppose there is. How can we touch it without the money to buy it, and then to blow a hole through the ridge. I guess we could about all the lot's worth."

Tom: "Don't jump at conclusions too quickly, Charley. Evidently that's been the general impression or the lot would have been snatched up by lumber concerns or speculators before this. Now what I want to see is whether this general idea is sound."

Charley: "It certainly looks so from our standpoint at least." They reached the place where the stream broke through under the ridge. It was not necessary to use the axe to make a hole in the space between the stream and the rocky formation of the ridge over it. This for-

with its factories, mills and stores. Two railroads ran through it—as described in a former chapter. It was plain even to the inexperienced eye of Tom that if the channel under the ridge could be enlarged, a good road could be constructed from the lot to the railroad station at Huntington, where cars could be loaded with lumber and wood for Boston, in whose markets such material was always in demand, and would meet with a ready sale at good prices.

The distance across the ledge over the stream was ascertained by their measurements to be about two hundred and fifty feet—the ridge widening out very considerably as it extended westerly to the hills. From the top of the ledge they obtained a good view of the general outlines of the lot, and much better than was seen from the ridge on its eastern side, over which they had come in the morning. From Tom's studies in geology in which he had taken much interest while at the institute where he had received his higher education, he concluded that the lot had at some remote period, been covered with the water of a great lake whose natural outlet was over the rocky part of the ridge which now lay between the water and the ledge, north of the lake had disappeared, leaving the two small ponds and the streams to drain the water away and the ledge beneath it, the beginning of the magnificent growth upon it appeared.

Having ascertained all that they could by the cursory examination that had been made and Charley and Victor wanted to make no talk about what they had heard Tom say, they descended the ridge over the way in which they had ascended it. They had but two good loads of game (deer and Charley suggested that they do a little hunting ere they returned to camp, which Tom assented to. So Charley swung off into the pines for partridges while Tom and Victor secured about 11, for a day's recently in Buxton with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Greene.

There was a large gathering of friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raydo Allen at North Bridport one evening last week. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Perry and four children of Bridport, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Edson and two children of Harrison, Mrs. Charles Allen and son, Myrtle Perry and two children of Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Will Day and four children, Miss Kathryn Day and Milton Deming of Otisfield. Mr. and Mrs. Raydo Allen have a nice six tube cabinet radio which all enjoyed very much. There isn't a day in the week but they entertain from ten to thirty-five people. Mr. Allen has improved his home very much since raising the roof and putting in new windows and newly cladding the house; he has also added a shed since he moved there. He had a fine garden this year and raised 150 bushels of fine potatoes, several bushels of dry beans and several bushels of fine vegetables. He also has some nice pullets that are laying well. Mr. Allen has been hauling his wood home which he cut and has saved, fitted for the stoves he has ready for winter.

ALL-SUMMER EXHIBIT

"At the conclusion of the Third Annual Economic Conference of the Maine Development Commission held at Waterville, Clarence C. Stetson, Chairman of the Commission expressed the opinion that this was without doubt the most constructive conference ever held by the Maine Development Commission."

In the opinion of Mr. Stetson, the outstanding suggestion made was the importance of establishing in the State, either at one point or possibly better in several localities, permanent exhibits of industrial and agricultural products. These should be open at least during the summer season and would show to our visitors the real quality of Maine wares, thus increasing the opportunity for industry and agriculture to make contacts with potential customers.

"The Commission hopes to take early steps to create a committee comprising existing organizations in the State and every section of the State. This committee's function will be to study whether it is preferable to have a statewide exhibit located at one point or several sectional exhibits scattered throughout the State and to make suggestions of ways and means as to how this can be accomplished and financed."

Muscular-Rheumatic Aches and Pains

DRAW them out with a "counter-irritant." Distressing muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness—generally respond pleasantly to good old Musterole. Doctors call it a "counter-irritant," because it gets action and is not just a salve. Musterole helps bring soreness and pain to the surface, and thus gives natural relief. You can feel how its warming action penetrates and stimulates blood circulation. But do not stop with one application. Apply this soothing, cooling, healing ointment generously to the affected area once every hour for five hours. Used by millions for over 20 years. Recommended by many doctors. Keep Musterole handy; jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Schools Had Go-to-Church Sunday

Included as Part of the National Education Week Program

The schools of South Paris had their second annual Go-to-Church Sunday as a part of the National Education Week program. Union services were held in the Congregational church at 7 o'clock, with Rev. R. H. Colby in charge, assisted by the ministers in the village.

Some two hundred pupils, accompanied by the faculty, teachers and superintendent, marched to the church in a body and occupied pews reserved for them.

A song service that opened the exercises, was led by the Ladies' Quartet, with Mrs. Harold Neal, organist, and Miss Dorothy Dean, violinist. The quartet also sang two selections, one with violin obligato.

Rev. C. L. Kinney, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, read the scriptures, Rev. R. H. Colby, the prayer, reading, and Rev. E. B. Tuley of the Baptist church offered prayer.

Pres. Clifton D. Gray of Bates College brought the message of the evening, in which he emphasized a broad education as the foundation upon which to build character. We cannot know too much, he said, for education does not stop after leaving school or college. The message, he said, was to be produced during the next couple of decades was obtained from each individual.

Results of the survey will be presented to the State Committee and made known to orchardists later.

Shaw's orchestra has been engaged for the annual Thanksgiving carnival dance at Oxford, Nov. 25, and for a Thanksgiving ball at Locke Mills pavilion, Nov. 26, where chickens and specialties will be the rule.

Miss Dorothy Dean, violinist, assisted in the musical program at the Congregational church last Sunday morning and evening.

The bulk of the Christmas orders have been filled at the Mason Manufacturing Co., and the factory is working on a five day schedule while getting changed over for another season. This arrangement is temporary.

Snow fences will be featured in town the coming winter. Two lengths of 400 and 500 feet will be set along the road over Pike's Hill from the Newton road to the Bunker place and from Frank Buck's garage to Mrs. Young's cottage. Other places this year are on Orchard street and Cottage street extension.

William Walker and others were observed breaking up ground and plowing on Nov. 15. Generally the ground is frozen and not workable at this time in November.

SPRITUAL GATHERINGS

The Wednesday night spiritual circle met as usual, with a good full house, and was a wonderful meeting. The meeting was held by Dr. and Mrs. Clement and Dr. S. Monahan. They have started a developing class with eight signed for regular attendance. A spiritual circle was held Wednesday night at Hick's Crossing, at Mrs. Pierson's and open to the public.

Dr. Clement is holding spiritual circles Sunday night at his home in Lewiston and began last Sunday night. The Wednesday night circles will continue probably all winter, so all may plan to go each week as they are public.

Merrill-Slatery

Henry R. Merrill and Miss Mabelle G. Slatery, both of South Paris, were married at the Congregational parsonage at 3 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, Nov. 15. Rev. Russell H. Colby officiated, using the double ring service.

Mrs. Merrill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Slatery of the Buckfield road. She is a graduate of South Paris High School in the class of 1929.

Mrs. Merrill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Merrill of East Main Street. He is a graduate of South Paris High School in the class of 1928, and is in the employ of the Mason Manufacturing Co.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Merrill are residing with their parents.

William Smith is a clerk in Leroy Titus' market and handles the order truck.

Mrs. C. L. Buck, instituting and installing officer of the Department of Maine, Auxiliary to Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, was in Bath Monday evening, to install the officers of T. W. Hyde Auxiliary, on Wednesday, in Bridgeton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Anderson left Saturday on their way to Florida. On the way they will visit with relatives in the Col. C. S. Edwards Auxiliary at Bethel.
